

Looking at me, looking at you

In this unit of work the children will explore their understanding of self, appreciating their uniqueness and having a positive self-image.

They will also find out about naming ceremonies in Christianity and another world faith.

In this unit children will:

- Recognise what makes a person unique
- Talk about their important life events
- Understand the importance of caring for others
- Understand how faith members are the same, and how they are different
- Be able to retell a faith story about caring for others
- Say why religious people celebrate an important life event
- Name some religious ceremonies connected with important times of life
- Explain the religious symbols and artefacts used in an important religious ceremony

Key Vocabulary

faith family belonging celebration ceremonies holy books symbols religious baptism rituals reflect differences similarities identity

Prior Learning

EYFS I am special

Cross Curricular Links

PSHE Relationships

Key Knowledge

- Many people of faith find that festivals and special celebrations help them to feel a sense of belonging.
- People of faith make 'big promises' at important times of life.
- What a person believes influences the way they lead their lives.
- For a person of faith, the key teachings from their holy book shape their values.
- People of faith wear and use symbols and artefacts to reflect their beliefs.
- Bible stories (and stories from other world faiths) help us to lead purposeful lives.

Key Questions

- What does it mean to belong?
- What makes a name special?
- What do Christians do to welcome a new baby into the church family?
- What does another religion do to mark the birth of a new baby?
- What symbols and artefacts are used in this ceremony?
- How do faith stories show us how people are cared for?

